Living Cost Sets Record In July

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's cost of living index in July edged up to a new peak, 124.9 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The July level, the Labor Department said in its monthly report Friday, was up three-tenths of one per cent from June and eight-tenths of one per cent above July 1958.

Food price increases led the way in the climb from June, the department said, but all major classes of goods and services played a part.

Food prices usually climb in July, going up four-tenths of one per cent this time. Eggs, which have been plentiful and comparatively cheap, jumped 18 per cent.

Seasonal Factors
Hersey E. Riley, chief of the department's division of prices and cost of living, attributed the June-to-July increase largely to seasonal factors. But he said about one-fourth of the total increase could be laid to local tax increases.

He cited higher sales taxes in Illinois and Arizona for example and boosts elsewhere in local taxes on cigarettes and restaurant meals.

"We are quite certain," Riley said, "that food prices will drop in August but we can't tell just how that will affect the entire cost of living index."

Riley also noted that the index shows the cost of living has been very stable over the last year.

Announcement of increases will mean pay raises—two cents an hour in most cases—for about one million workers whose wage contracts are geared to the government index.

Riley also said the spendable earnings of factory workers—that is, average earnings after deduction of federal income and Social Security taxes—declined about 85 cents during the month to $80.85 a week for a man with three dependents and to $73.31 for one without dependents.

The increase in prices and the drop in spendable income combined to reduce factory workers' earnings about 1½ per cent, Riley calculated.

UAW Blasts Two Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Auto Workers has accused two Republican senators of waging a "political vendetta" against the UAW and its president, Walter P. Reuther, as a means of winning re-election next year.

Small Unions Under Provisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees, working slowly toward a compromise labor control bill, have agreed to bring small unions under provisions requiring public reporting of finances.

At the same time, it was learned Friday, the conferees accepted a scaling down of criminal penalties for any union official who infringes on members' rights.

Collection Of Sales Tax Runs Smoothly

AFL-CIO Agrees With Nixon Group

FOREST PARK — The AFL-CIO Executive Council, in a press release for yesterday, agreed with the Committee on Pride Stability headed by Vice President Richard Nixon in its published statements that total economic growth, including the establishment of new industries, is of prime importance to the nation.

However, the council said: "By clever manipulation of the public's natural fear of inflation, spokesmen for special privilege have been seeking to undermine the confidence of America in policies that have generated economic growth for a quarter of a century and to replace them with reactionary policies that brought America to disaster in 1929."

Statements

These statements were issued in the council's statement on inflation, and went on to say that "some of the nation's largest business enterprises have been seeking to brainwash the country into believing:

"Calamitous inflation will engulf us . . . if public construction, such as schools, hospitals, etc. are increased."

"Calamitous inflation will engulf us . . . unless Americans support the 'hard money' crusade which has already added billions in higher interest costs."

"Calamitous inflation will engulf us . . . if Americans stop seeking to raise pensions . . . compensation for the unemployed . . . and low earnings of millions forced to work for less than a subsistence minimum."

"Calamitous inflation engulf us . . . if Americans continue seeking reasonable and justifiable increases in their earnings."

In referring to the Nixon committee's report, the AFL-CIO president, George Meany, during a press conference, said he totally agreed with the statement which left out the word "inflation" and only referred to the need for additional industry in the nation.

During the conference, Meany said the greatest problem facing the nation is to find industry to employ those workers already laid off because of automation and lack of areas in which to sell products.

In their release of yesterday, the council referred to the National Association of Manufacturers and big business as perpetuating a myth "of over-presumptuous inflation in an effort to re-establish their control over the American economy." The council compared this to the Soviet leaders perpetuating the myth of "capitalist encirclement."

Closing the council said the "whipped up anti-inflation campaigns have scared America out of normal economic growth, and have brought on repeated recessions."

Mixed Comment Greet Sales Tax

AREA businesses not previously affected by Pennsylvania's sales tax yesterday began collecting the new four percent levy signed into law Thursday by Gov. David L. Lawrence.

A few customers voiced complaints, but in general there was little confusion and little griping about the tax.

Now covered by the tax are laundry and dry cleaning services, shoe repairs, wholesale beer sales by distributors and liquor purchased at state stores.

Typical comment by dry cleaning and laundry operators included:

Arthur Klingel, Klingel Cleaners—I wouldn't say there were any complaints. The customers discussed it, though.

Ralph Arnold, Arnold's Cleaners — We just told the people they had to pay it. No one complained.

Alan Keiper, Keiper's, Inc. — We plan to start collecting the tax Monday.

Raymond T. Possinger, Strouds Laundry and Dry Cleaners — Collection of the tax will probably be handled through the Bethlehem office, not at this end.

Jimmy Nicolais, Bright Cleaners—We will start collecting the tax today. Diaper sales is tax free, Nicolais reported.

Comment by shoe repair operators included:

Hans Weiskopf, Cresco—No real reaction as yet.

Anthony DeLuca, East Stroudsburg — Hasn't started collecting as yet, since he has a question as to whether it is double taxation. He'll discuss it with the Sales Tax Bureau today.

Beer distributors reacted in this manner:

Horace Warner, Laurel Beverage Co.—Started collecting, but feels the tax should have been put on at the brewery.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rowe, Swisher Distributing Co., Tannersville — Started to collect. Neither customers nor distributor too happy about tax.

William Torzillo, Monroe Distributing Co. — Thinks the state made a mistake in imposing levy. Feels there will be a drop in beer sales as there is every time there is a price increase.

Z. J. Viechnicki, East Stroudsburg Beverage Co. — Thinks the tax is penalizing certain persons, but did not identify them further.

Sam Zaccaro, Courtland Beverage Co.—Said there was considerable confusion as to the retail trade angle from operators of taverns.

A spokesman for Penn-Stroud Distributing Co. said some customers aren't happy about the tax and expressed discontent.

Clifford E. Butz, manager of the State Liquor Store at Mount Pocono, said his organization began collecting the tax on Friday, shortly after it became law, and customers "didn't give us any arguments."

Not all soft drink bottlers were placing the same interpretation on the word "distributor."

One bottler, Cola Cola in Palmerton, started charging the four percent tax on all bottled soft drinks sold at retail and to retail outlets (stores, soda fountains, etc.) The only exception was on sales to those who distribute to retail outlets.

Another manufacturer, Strouds Bottling Works, is collecting the tax on all bottled soft drinks sold at retail, but not on that sold to stores.

Ralph L. Gelinas, owner, said he interprets the word "distributor" to include stores and is not charging them the tax, pending a clarification of the ruling.

A number of distributors of soft drink were checked and all reported charging the new tax. One firm explained that it is basing the levy strictly on four percent of sales, which in some instances figures out to a penny more or less than the rate chart released by the state.

Here's an oddity. Soft drink in any volume over one gallon is not taxed. This includes the pre-mix which is distributed by bottlers to camps, fairs, etc., in stainless steel containers and sold on tap.

Department stores and other establishments which had been collecting the tax at the former three and one-half percent rate reported a few complaints from customers when the new rate went into effect yesterday. Little or no difficulty was encountered in making change - over, however.

Most of the stores said they used the tax table printed in The Daily Record yesterday as the guide for their clerks.

Some Trouble
Noted In Philadelphia

HARRISBURG (AP) — Collection of Pennsylvania's sales tax at the new four percent rate developed some snags but generally it ran along smoothly in most areas Friday.

Some confusion was reported in Philadelphia, mostly among businesses which became subject to the tax for the first time Thursday when Gov. Lawrence approved it. They include laundry and dry cleaning firms, shoe repairmen, bars and beer distributors.

Barbers in the state's largest city were collecting the tax on over-the-bar drinks until agents of the Sales Tax Bureau told them to stop. The sales tax bill's provision on alcoholic beverages applies only to retail sales made by beer distributors and at state liquor stores.

In most areas, businesses eased the collection problem for their employees by posting the tax table, clipped from newspapers, on cash registers.

Less Easy
George F. Swearingen, public relations director of the Greater Erie Chamber of Commerce, said the 4 percent tax is less easy to compute than the 3½ per cent levy it replaced.

The first sales agency of any kind to begin collecting the new levy—a half percent above the previous rate—was the commonwealth's vast retail liquor business.

Frank J. Shea, secretary of the Liquor Control Board, said the state's more than 600 stores were geared to start collecting the higher rate within minutes of enactment of the legislation at 3:05 p.m. Thursday.

Ahead Of Time
"We had everything set up ahead of time," Shea explained. "We had advised stores with tables on the possible cutoffs on brackets for collection of the higher rate compared to the old rate."

"When we got word of enactment and the actual scale of rates, we so advised the stores through a chain of command," he added. "The whole thing was done in minutes."

Meanwhile, the Revenue Department reported it had not run into any snags with the new rate.

Heat Wave
Sets Record
In East

(By The Associated Press)
RECORD hot weather, stalled over much of the nation's eastern half, kept millions stewing in humid 90-plus atmosphere Friday.

It was an all-time high of 98 for the date in Baltimore — the (Local Temperatures, Page 5)

10th successive day the mercury topped 90 there. The lowest night-time reading in that period was 72.

Chicago, with the year's high of 95 reached in midafternoon, had its highest temperature — humidity index reading, 85. The Weather Bureau says most people are uncomfortable when the index hits 79.

There were mild oases in upper New England and the Northern Plains where the temperatures held to the 60s and 70s. And pleasant weather was the general rule west of the Rockies, with some temperatures in the 50s on Northern mountain slopes, and 60s and 70s in the Northwest.

Cooler weather was expected to shift southward over most of New England and parts of New York State Saturday, but the outlook for most of the hot area was for little change.

Steel Strike Report Ruled As False

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel strike negotiators Friday branded reports of a settlement in the 38-day walkout as unfounded.

Rumors of an agreement began spreading in the Wall Street district Thursday. And in Gary, Ind., the Post-Tribune quoted an unidentified industry official as saying a tentative strike-ending agreement had been reached on the basis of a small wage increase.

Negotiators for the industry and the United Steelworkers of America held another session here without apparent progress, then recessed until Monday.

R. Conrad Cooper, the chief industry negotiator, called the settlement report unfounded.

"I have heard of no agreement—tentative or otherwise—to settle the strike," Cooper said.

Vice President
Howard Hague, vice president of the Steelworkers and a negotiator here, called the reports "absolutely untrue."

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said that, "At the moment there is no movement on economic or any major issue."

David J. McDonald, the union president, did not attend the latest negotiation session. He was in Pittsburgh on union business.

The widespread reports of a settlement followed the government's issuance of a fact-finding report on the steel situation and a subsequent conference Wednesday between Cooper and McDonald.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, in issuing the report, drew no conclusions on the merits of the dispute but said hard bargaining could produce an early settlement.

Both management and union interpreted the facts in the report as supporting its stand in the strike.

The union is seeking a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase over the prestrike average earnings of $3.11 an hour. It also seeks fringe benefits.

The industry contends this would be inflationary. The union holds that its proposals could be met out of profits and productivity without necessitating an inflation-spurring increase in steel prices.

Faulty Blast
Ends Tests
For Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—An over-anxious space capsule blasted off ahead of time and plopped into the ocean Friday, leaving its main booster rocket still standing on the ground.

Thus ended the first try at testing an escape mechanism for the Mercury astronauts now in training for flights into space.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which conducted the experiment at its Wallops Island test station on the Virginia Eastern Shore, said no one was hurt.

Further Tests
No reason was announced for the premature firing, which lifted a 2,000-pound unoccupied capsule away from its main rocket carriage and lofted it into the surf.

This mishap occurred about 20 minutes before the 10-foot-high capsule was to have been borne aloft by a Little Joe launching rocket.

1,100 Names Placed On Police Petition

MOUNT POCONO—A petition signed by 1,100 area residents protesting closing of the State Police barracks here is being forwarded to Gov. David L. Lawrence.

The community service committee of the local Chamber of Commerce met Wednesday to check the names. The board of directors of the chamber had previously asked the committee to prepare petitions and place them throughout the area served by the barracks.

It was decided to continue accepting petitions and Gerald M. Possinger, Mount Pocono Burgess and chairman of the committee, said as more are received special meetings of the committee will be held to review them.

In an accompanying letter to the governor, John F. O'Neill, executive secretary of the chamber and the Top of the Poconos Assn., wrote:

"On behalf of our two organizations and our citizens, some of whom have written you personally, we would be most grateful to receive some assurance that further consideration and study of statistics and facts already furnished will receive the attention of your newly-appointed commissioner of our fine State Police organization before any action is taken."

Copies of the letter were sent to Rep. Van D. Yetter and Sen. William Z. Scott. Col. Frank G. McCartney, State Police commissioner, recently announced plans to close the station in a reorganization move.

Stephen Nash
Dies In Gas Chamber

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Stephen Nash died in San Quentin's gas chamber Friday as he was born—without a friend in the world.

By some standards, including his own, the confessed sex slayer of 11 men and boys died like a man.

Calmly, with a fixed smile, the 36-year-old Nash entered the little green gas chamber and peered through the wide glass windows, searching for a face.

While guards strapped him into a chair, Nash caught the eyes of J. Miller Leavy, deputy district attorney of Los Angeles County.

The smile widened and Nash gave Leavy a slow, deliberate wink.

Pronounced Dead
With his eyes fastened on Leavy, the prosecutor who had sent him to the gas chamber, Nash said: "Unfortunately, I've never been able to live like a man."

However, I expect to die like a man."

Gov. Rockefeller Arrives In Norway For Son's Wedding

SOGNE, Norway (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York arrived in Norway Friday night for the wedding today of his son Steven to Anne Marie Rasmussen and insisted on talking romance, not politics.

With a fatherly kiss for Anne Marie, who was at Kristiansand airport to greet him with her father, Kristian Rasmussen, and Steven the governor said: "I'm delighted to see you again, my dear."

Anne Marie worked in the Rockefeller home in 1956, first in the kitchen, then as a parlor maid.

Both Grin
Steven took Rasmussen by the hand and drew him through a crowd of newsmen to meet his father. The two fathers shook hands and both grinned.

"I'm very glad to meet you, sir," said the governor.

"Velkommen, velkommen (Welcome, welcome)," Rasmussen replied.

Anne Marie's father, until he retired two years ago, was a grocer and fish merchant on a small island two miles off the mainland of south Norway. Anne Marie's mother, Lovise, a shy, taciturn woman, did not come to the airport.

She was at home getting dinner for the governor, his wife, and their whole family with the Rasmussens in their modest home.

Earlier in the day, displaying deep emotion, Steven said of his marriage: "This wedding is my life and I will remember it for the rest of my life. Anne Marie and I are going to build our whole lives on this occasion."

Members of Gov. Lawrence's Advisory Committee on Unemployment Compensation Friday urged tightening the eligibility for unemployment benefits to help bolster the state's sagging Unemployment Compensation Fund.

They said the higher rates that would be required for the fund under the present system would place Pennsylvania in a dangerous competitive position with other states and might increase unemployment.

Pensioners
In a report supplementing a July 29 report by the entire 15-man committee, the five employers asked elimination of these categories of claimants as "not entitled to receive benefits."

Pensioners, seasonal workers, pregnant women, workers who voluntarily resign, persons with inadequate work records and those who take a second round of benefits.

How Spending Mounts

Earlier in this session congressmen's pen pals, the voters, jammed the mails with pleas for the government to live within a balanced budget. Some sobered lawmakers switched to the side of the savers, and many a big-spending proposal bit the dust.

Now it appears that while the battle is won, the war is far from over.

Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.) has unlimbered his adding machine to discover that bills still pending before Congress could increase the federal budget by 187 billion dollars over the next five years—an increase of about 40 billion a year, or 50 per cent over the present staggering budget.

Few of these bills are likely to pass this year. It's too late in the session, and piles of mail are too fresh in the congressmen's minds. But each of these bills is alive because some powerful group wants the money spent. That the people want the money saved may be beside the point in the long run.

What often happens is that those who are for a piece of pork-barrel legislation team up with those who want subsidies for their own pet projects. They all agree to support each other's bills, and a giant and powerful spending bloc is formed within the Congress.

That's how the civilian budget has gotten as big as it is.

The only long-term answer, from the taxpayer's point of view, is for the nation's voters to elect stingier men to Washington. They had better choose men with the intelligence and courage to say a firm "no" to the countless groups and special interests who covet the taxpayer's money.

If congressmen would say "we can't afford it" more often, husbands wouldn't have to say "we can't afford it" so often to their own families.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Illegitimacy Is On The Rise

Well over 200,000 children will be born out of wedlock in this country this year, the largest number on record. Quite apart from the problem illegitimate children pose for welfare agencies and institutions, these babies and their brothers and sisters in misfortune also will cost the taxpayers $210 million.

This is the Government's estimate of the support payments by Federal, State and local authorities. But by no means all these babies are the children of poor and ignorant women; there is a disquieting rise in the illegitimate births to daughters of well-to-do parents, who quietly put the babies on the adoption market. About 20,000 of the poorer unwed mothers annually try to sell their children on the baby black market.

Illegitimate births now account for 19.6 per 1,000 white, and 20.6 per 1,000 non-white births. Almost half of the mothers are in their teens, and nearly 5,000 babies are born every year to girls under 15 years old. All sorts of explanations are suggested for the rise in the number of teen-age mothers—unhappy homes, slum environments, lack of parental supervision and lowered moral standards among them.

One which has engaged the attention of sociologists (though its influence is far from established) is the growing tendency of children in their teens to start steady dating. In its turn, the rigid pattern of steady dating is attributed to the desire for safety and security in even the very young. It is a debatable diagnosis among experts, but one which has a good deal of logic to back it up.

Reports From Congress

Johanson A Westerner?

By Congressional Quarterly
Washington—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) is voting more like a Westerner and less like a Southerner this year than at any other time since the 1956 election, a Congressional Quarterly study released today shows.

Back in 1957, there were 25 Senate roll calls on which the majority of voting Southern Democrats voted one way and the majority of voting Western Democrats voted the other.

In that year, Johnson agreed 11 times with the West, 12 times with the South and took no stand on the other two roll calls.

In 1958, when there were 56 splits between the South and the West, Johnson shifted ever so slightly to the side of the West. He went with the Westerners 25 times, with the Southerners 23 times and took no stand eight times.

In 1959, his pro-Western leaning has become unmistakable. Of the 44 roll call disagreements through Aug. 16 between Democrats from Dixie and those from the Pacific and Mountain states, Johnson has been with the West on 25, the South on 15 and unrecorded on four.

Putting it all in percentage terms, here's how Johnson's record looks:

Agreed With:	Took No
West	Stand
1957 44% 48%	8%
1958 45 41	14
1959 57 34	9

The increasing Western accent in the Majority Leader's voting record seems certain to feed the speculation about his possible Presidential ambitions.

Won In Poll—Just last week, when he was named in a Congressional Quarterly poll as the leading Presidential choice of Congressional Democrats, Johnson again denied any interest in seeking the nomination.

But some observers speculate that Johnson has set out to identify himself more as a Westerner.

Last December, they note, he said, "I don't think anybody from the South will be nominated in my lifetime. If so, I don't think he will be elected."

One month later, Johnson took the highly un-Southern step of introducing his own civil rights bill. His speech on that bill included the pointed reminder that "Texas has been part of the Union since Appomattox."

In February, he formally joined the caucus of Western Democratic Senators. In May, his friend Ernest W. McFarland, former Senator and Governor of Arizona, spread word of the "new Johnson" at the Denver meeting of the Western States Democratic Conference.

Civil Rights Stand—The reaction to all this among Western leaders has ranged from distinct coolness to an apparent willingness to take Johnson into the brotherhood without question.

California Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, among others, has made it clear that Johnson must shake the "Southern" tag on the crucial civil rights issue if he is to become politically acceptable in the West.

On this point, the CQ analysis shows that Johnson has voted with the West on five of its seven disagreements with the South over civil rights legislation and Senate filibuster rules during the past three years.

He was with the West in 1957 in voting to begin consideration of the House-passed civil rights bill, for passage of the Senate bill, against the motion to send the House's modified jury trial provision to committee and for the motion to accept that provision. In 1959 he voted with the West to modify the rules to permit two-thirds of the Senators actually voting to shut off a filibuster.

Johnson voted with the South in 1957 to table the motion to consider new Senate rules nad for the move to refer the House-passed civil rights bill to the Judiciary Committee for seven days.

Johnson has also stood with the West on 15 of its 19 disagreements with the South over foreign aid and other foreign policy matters, on 11 of 15 labor votes, on five of eight farm votes and on three of four concerning statehood and a dome rule. He opposed the South and voted with the West on all six roll calls involving legislation to "curb" the Supreme Court or overturn some of its decisions.

He has been most "Southern" in his votes on taxes and fiscal policy, siding with Dixie against the West on 11 of 12 roll calls in this field. Most of them involved tax cut proposals which Johnson opposed.

He has also voted with the South on six of eight roll calls involving Federal education programs and five of eight on housing.

Let's not shroud the cost of this project in secrecy. I think you owe it to the taxpayers of East Stroudsburg to give them a true picture of the cost, a picture that will give every taxpayer an honest idea of what he can expect his share of the costs will be.

In closing, I ask you, would you as an individual buy a car or home without knowing the cost? I hardly think so! So please, let's hear from you.

Undesirable Police Force

What is altogether undesirable in this country is a national police, but many who agree to this proposition often advocate measures which would logically bring such a body into existence. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, has always resisted the efforts of well-meaning persons to load down the FBI with the functions of the local police.

When a bomb is thrown at a building with the object of destroying it, this is a matter for the local police. During the past year or two, some synagogues and church buildings have been bombed or defaced.

There can be little question but that some "hate" organization is responsible for this manifestation of ill-will. There are many "hate" groups and they hate different things, although some of them have now reached a degree of antipathy that they hate everything that is different from what they are.

There is also no question but that the willful destruction of property is a criminal act, punishable in our courts under existing law.

Rep. Carlton Loser of Tennessee has introduced a measure, which has passed the House Judiciary Committee and which would, as worded, require the FBI to investigate any type of fire or explosion or bombing, including labor disputes, if there is a possibility that those perpetrating the act crossed state lines.

This would enlarge the functions of the FBI beyond its capacity, either as to manpower or as to budget. It would also delegate to the FBI a task which is strictly local and which the local police anywhere in the United States should be able to handle if they attend to their business and are not fearful of local pressure groups.

The danger of developing a national police force is greater than the danger to the nation of some big managing to evade the local police. The big got who permits himself to destroy life or property will sooner or later be discovered and punished; however, the national police force can become a permanent institution.

It is true that the people of this country have confidence in Hoover and recognize that he does not permit the FBI to be used for political purposes or to suppress opposition to those in power.

However, Hoover will not always head the FBI and a national police force could be used by an unscrupulous person for deleterious purposes if he were so disposed.

As the legislation is written, the language is so broad that persons concerned with bombings would expect the Bureau to intervene in every case to discover whether Federal law applied, even if the bombings were the product of gangsters' wars.

Furthermore, it would seem that the FBI is already concerned with the bombing of churches or synagogues because of its duties in protecting civil liberties. One of the liberties which all Americans enjoy is the right to worship God in whatever way each individual chooses or not to worship at all.

The denial of religious liberty is the denial of the constitutional right of any person living upon American soil. Therefore, no new legislation is really required to permit FBI intervention in a case involving the bombing or defacing of a church or a synagogue. That duty is already theirs.

It is important that the role of the local police be preserved. The primary responsibility for the protection of life and property must rest with the local authorities.

The tendency to drag the Federal Government into every phase of American life has not proved out over the past 20 years, and the FBI has strictly avoided becoming an agency for Federal aggression against the local government.

It is not wholesome for local police forces to develop undue dependence upon the FBI which has no function in labor disputes, contested local elections, gang wars, etc.

Many new problems arise each year, some out of the usual disturbed social conditions after wars, some out of household maladjustments in a transitional period. Such matters as the bombing of churches and synagogues are undoubtedly due to the social changes arising out of integration of Negroes in the South, some persons organizing to withstand the law.

Under present jurisdiction, such questions are limited to the states and local communities and there they should remain, unless there is absolute evidence of violation of constitutional rights of individual citizens whose civil rights are to be preserved.

Price Working Hard For Legislation

John Price, of 240 Lee Ave., Stroudsburg, is Monroe County's strongest supporter of the "Health for Peace" legislation now being started in the House. John is actually campaigning for the legislation, which was proposed by President Dwight Eisenhower last year.

The bill calls for an international institute of health and research and makes possible a coordinated five-year drive against cancer, heart disease and arthritis.

The bill was passed by an overwhelming 63-17 margin in the Senate last May. Since that time it has kicked around in the House.

Most of the time the legislation has been in the hands of the House Subcommittee on Health and Safety of the Interstate Commerce Committee.

Hearings in the subcommittee were completed recently. The subcommittee could report the bill immediately and the Interstate Commerce Committee could approve the bill without further delay and take it directly to the House floor for a vote.

Rep. Oren Harris, Arkansas, is one of the newest supporters of the bill.

Price urges everyone in favor of the "Health for Peace" legislation to write to Rep. George M. Rhodes, of Reading, Pa. Rhodes is a member of the Inter-State Commerce Committee.

This bill could benefit many millions of people each year.

The Allen-Scott Report

Hoffa Wars On Foes

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington—Teamster boss James Hoffa proposes to raise $6 million for the express purpose of going into next year's election to "change the complexion of Congress."

This political fund will be obtained by levying special assessments on the 1-500,000 Teamster members.

That's what Hoffa belligerently announced at a cocktail-dinner party, in a leading Washington hotel, attended by Teamster officials and lobbyists from all parts of the country, plus a number of congressmen.

They included Representatives Clarence Cannon (D., Mo.), chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee, who says he was invited by a "union friend," and Frank Boykin (D., Ala.), ranking member of the influential Merchant Marine Committee, who, like Cannon, voted for the tough Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill.

Also Representatives Harry Sheppard and Harlan Hays, California Democrats, who voted against this measure.

No senators were present. Boykin, who is fond of generally referring to himself as "all for love" and is noted for his own lavish entertaining, began the meal by saying grace.

That was the last reverent note of the evening.

Empty Sleeve No Handicap

Dear Abby: A year ago, due to an old infection, it was necessary to have my left arm amputated close to the shoulder. I quickly adjusted to my loss until recently.

I became reacquainted with an old friend (now a divorcee) who insisted she'd be glad to let me escort her places. She assured me that my having only one arm made absolutely no difference to her. I have taken her out several times and enjoy her company.

Now she persists in telling me that my "empty sleeve" is conspicuous although she knows that I can't wear an artificial arm. I am losing confidence in myself. Should I continue to see her?

"EMPTY SLEEVE"

Dear Sir: Your "empty sleeve" isn't nearly the handicap that this woman's empty head is. Drop her.

Dear Editor: Please print the enclosed letter, which I have addressed to the East Stroudsburg Sewer Commission, in your letters-to-the-editor column.

FRED LIPE JR., 52 Temple St., East Stroudsburg, Pa. To the Members of the Commission:

I am a puzzled taxpayer; you tell us in your news release that the proposed sewer system is to cost every man, woman, and child $66. Who are you trying to delude?

As an average-intelligent person, I know and you do too, that payments on a sewer system will be paid on a per foot basis for the number of feet of property that you own, and this cost will be added to our present taxes, which are already very heavy.

Let's not shroud the cost of this project in secrecy. I think you owe it to the taxpayers of East Stroudsburg to give them a true picture of the cost, a picture that will give every taxpayer an honest idea of what he can expect his share of the costs will be.

Try and Stop Me

Mel Dodson, of Atlantic City, likes to ask the kids who wander into Convention Hall, "What's the difference between 'unlawful' and 'illegal'?" The answer, of course, is that "unlawful" means "against the law" and "illegal" is a sick bird.

Have you heard about the new cocktail called "The Ark"? It's for people who can't say No.

PASSING THROUGH—Blaine Wilkinson of Fullerton, Calif., passed through Stroudsburg yesterday on a bicycle trip to New York City. He left his home town on June 30 and has averaged about 75 miles a day.

California Cyclist Near New York Goal

"NO FLAT tires so far" said Blaine Wilkinson as he stopped briefly at the Daily Record yesterday en route to New York City.

Blaine rode through the Stroudsburg area on a bicycle and a prayer after leaving his home town Fullerton, Calif., on June 30.

Blaine averaging 75 miles a day, Blaine has ridden an English racer, across the southern route of the United States via the Grand Canyon, Denver, Omaha and Chicago.

He traveled Route 6 through Pennsylvania and experienced some of the roughest climbing in the Pocono Mountains. While there are higher mountains in the west, it is a gradual and continual ascent. In this area, it is "up and down" with little relief, Williamson said.

"I've never thought of turning back and I'm thrilled and yet not tremendously glad its nearly over," Blaine exclaimed. New York City is his final goal.

While he has had no serious accidents since the beginning of his travels, he has been run off the road many times. His experience has proven that truck drivers are more courteous than fast speeding cars.

Why does a person bicycle across the country? "Well, its been in the back of my mind and it wasn't a bet. I just wanted to see the country and this is a good way to do it."

Blaine has appeared on a number of television stations and radio programs during his travels including the Don McNeal Breakfast Club Show. Last night, he made an appearance on television in Scranton.

With hopes of receiving a free ride back, Blaine will stay a few days in New York City, perhaps go on television and then travel for a few days in New England if time allows.

At a cost of $100 a month or $3.50 a day, Blaine finds himself with only $60 left and many miles before he reaches home again. School begins at Fullerton Junior College Sept. 15.

His parting comment — "Pennsylvania has too many hills!"

West End Fair Lists New Features

38th Annual Production Set Tuesday

GILBERT—Several new activities are on schedule for the 38th annual West End Fair displayed to start Tuesday night.

The Amusements of America Company, supplying ferris wheels, merry-go-round, and children's rides, has a special added attraction in a ride called "The Scrambler". Maurice E. Kresge, president of the fair, describes it as a "potato beater affair."

This amusement company carries with it a complete emergency power plant which will be used at the fair grounds if a power failure should develop. None is expected.

Also at the fair for the first time will be a leather craft display, the work of Monroe County residents.

Tuesday night, the Monroe County Band will provide music from 8 to 11 p.m. and Wednesday afternoon and night the Palmerton Township band will play.

In preparation for this year's fair roof repairs have been made on the many of the buildings with an entire new roof on the lounge building.

In preparation for hungry fair visitors, hamburger facilities have been expanded with a new stove in the kitchen and four new stoves added to meet demands.

Cleanup Committee

Yesterday, the cleanup committee was in full swing at the 50 acre fair grounds, as winter leaves and debris were swept away to make ready for the 22,000 persons who are expected to attend the fair.

Twenty-five of the total 50 acres will be used to park cars. Last year some 4,000 cars filled the parking area.

There are 15 divisions planned this year for the greatest possible variety of farm produce and machinery. A special division is devoted to high school somemaking classes which Kresge feels is becoming stronger and bigger every year.

The fair program announces that "Every possible effort is put forth in every department of the fair to interest the patrons in better agriculture, better livestock, and in more modern machinery, and in fact in everything that will tend to build up and increase agricultural production."

Persons wishing to exhibit are asked to have their entries in by 6 p.m. Tuesday.

State To Probe Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities decided Friday to turn over to California boards of education the job of investigating Communist influences in that state's schools.

Committee Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) made known the decision in a letter to Arthur F. Corey, executive secretary of the California Teachers Assn. Corey had suggested such a course of action.

Staff members said committee hearings on the matter, scheduled to begin Oct. 14, will be called off. They said subpoenas issued for some 60 or 70 teachers also will be cancelled.

Polk To Accept 49 Students From Eldred

KRESGEVILLE — Polk Township High School here will accept 49 Eldred Township secondary pupils for the coming school term on a tuition basis.

The Pleasant Valley Joint Board agreed to accept the pupils despite a resolution on the jointure minutes not to take the pupils unless Eldred became a part of the jointure.

John C. Mills, jointure principal, said last night there are no hard feelings among the three districts comprising the jointure toward Eldred.

He added that as long as the jointure has room it will accept the Eldred pupils.

Eldred's directors have not acted toward reentering the jointure. They have asked more time to study the jointure pact.

The joint board has taken steps to build a $1,320,000 high school without Eldred. Mills said it is hoped to have the building ready for use in September, 1960.

Despite a state law which says schools can't be built by a jointure for tuition pupils, Mills said the jointure will continue to accept Eldred pupils as long as there is room for them.

"We will not take anything out on the children," he added.

The body was discovered by Ginder's nephew, Clair Ginder, who told police his uncle had been despondent.

AFL-CIO Sends Word To Congress

FOREST PARK — The Executive Council of the AFL-CIO has sent the following telegram to the leaders of the House of Representatives in Washington, urging action on the Area Redevelopment bill.

The Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations urges you to take all necessary steps to secure action by the House of Representatives on Area Redevelopment legislation before adjournment.

The Senate acted last Spring. The House Banking and Currency Committee reported out its bill and requested a rule three months ago.

Despite general business recovery, the cancer of chronic unemployment in industrial and rural areas has not been eradicated. It will spread until positive legislative steps are taken.

Passage of a Federal Area Redevelopment Act has long been a commitment of the Democratic and Republican Parties alike. There can be no justification for delay.

Railroad Merger To Reduce Jobs

SCRANTON (AP) — Merger of the Lackawanna and Erie railroads will result in the loss of 300 to 400 jobs in the Scranton area within the next five years.

This was disclosed Friday at a meeting of the presidents of the two lines with Mayor James Hanlon and other community leaders at Hotel Casey.

The mayor, following the 90-minute conference, said the net results of the proposed merger did not seem to be as bad as had been feared.

"From their explanation," the mayor said, "the situation seems to be better than we had expected."

Freight service through Scranton will be reduced, requiring a cut in the number of engine and train service personnel stationed in Scranton.

Wedding During July For Gloria Louise Bryson And John V. Bush

Readers—Miss Gloria Louise Bryson, daughter of Mrs. Homer Kellison was married July 18 to John V. Bush, son of Mrs. Grace Bush, of Blakeslee and Claude Bush, of Pocono Pines.

The double ring ceremony in East Stroudsburg was performed by Rev. Harold C. Eaton. The church was decorated with white gladioli.

The traditional wedding music was supplied by the church organist, Wallace Hornbrook. James Werkheiser, cousin of the bride, sang "Oh Promise Me," "Because" and the "Lord's Prayer," which was sung while the bride and bridegroom knelt at the altar.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, George P. Martin, of Readers, the bride was attired in a gown of white imported rose point lace and nylon tulle over slipper satin. The dress was fashioned with a circlet neckline embellished with sequins. The bodice had long lace sleeves. The bouffant skirt was of ruffled tulle with a scalloped lace overskirt sprinkled with sequins and finished with a chapel train. The fingertip veil of imported silk illusion fell from a jeweled coronet. She carried a cascade of white roses and white orchids.

Linda Marling, of Scotrun, her maid of honor, wore a waltz length gown of white nylon organza embroidered in pink with a wide pink cummerbund and matching pink crown. She carried a cascade of "Mamie Eisenhower" carnations.

The bridesmaids were Jennette Bryson, sister of the bride, of Readers; Joni Gravel, of East Stroudsburg; and Norma Butz, Henryville.

They wore gowns similar to the maid of honor, with aqua cummerbunds and matching crowns. They carried cascades of red carnations.

The best man was Charles Dyson, of East Stroudsburg and the ushers were Robert Bryson, Readers, brother of the bride; Robert Rischer, of Pocono Lake; Ronald Davis, of Pocono Pines, and Joseph Lewis, Pocono Pines.

The bride's mother was attired in a blue silk organza dress with blue accessories and wore a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a gray lace over pink tulle dress with pink accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Immediately following the reception at Naomi Lake Boat house for approximately 100 guests, the couple left for Cape Cod, Mass., where they spent two weeks.

For her going away outfit, the bride wore a light blue

Marion Metzgar Surprised At Bridal Shower

Saylorsburg — Miss Marion Metzgar was the honored guest at a bridal shower held Sunday, August 16, on the lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Seidoff.

The bride to be thought she had been invited to help her sister Evelyn celebrate a birthday, but found the guests waiting for her.

The gifts were placed on a table decorated in gold and shrimp colors with a green sprinkling can hanging over them and on one side of the table was a "Wishing Well" decorated in white green and pink with flowers on the walls of the well.

The shower was given by Miss Metzgar's mother, sisters Evelyn and Nancy, Florence Post and Nina Warfield.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Elliott, Mrs. Esther Tucker, Eleanor Tucker, Mrs. Norman Courtwright, Mr. and Mrs. William Leap and family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miller Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Allen Post, Florence June Metzgar, Mrs. Naomi Titus, Mrs. Ruth Shoemaker, Mrs. Florence O'Boyle and son Kevin, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miller Sr., sons Ricky and Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Chiodo, son Danny, Mrs. Howard Strouse Jr., daughter Tamal Jane, Raseley Neal, Ruth Wiest, Mrs. Robert Seidoff, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Metzgar, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Smith, Mrs. Laura Lenord, Mrs. Nina Warfield, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Snyder, son Wyatt, Herbert and David Metzgar, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Possinger and family, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Youn and sons, Marion Metzgar and her fiancé, Robert Smith and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Seidoff, son Danny.

Those sending gifts but unable to attend were Mr. and Mrs. George Metzgar Sr., Mrs. Emma Faust, Elaine Dennis, Ida Dennis, Marian Lee, Helen Hoffman, Bernada Kresge and Hannah Kresge.

A picnic lunch was served. The table held two decorated cakes for Miss Metzgar as well as three birthday cakes for her sister Evelyn.

One thing we discovered and I'll admit much to our surprise, the area further up in the mountains does not have any more, cooler breezes than we do here in Stroudsburg. There is a way to beat the heat for awhile, even here in the town, and that is to go out for dinner in an air-conditioned restaurant. This is easier and cheaper and more possible than my suggestion earlier in the week of going to the moon.

Besides, going to the moon would mean leaving a lot of people behind. In volunteering for a ride up there into space, I will wait till my ticket says return trip.

Speaking of return trips, I have just that for next week because Bobby Westbrook is on a two week holiday and from what I understand she has spent part of it on the golf course including winning one of the prizes in the Ladies Day play at Glen Brook on Thursday.

I close sending my best wishes to Miss Ida Berger and her family, with the hopes of hearing that in 1966 she will be celebrating her 100th birthday. Thank you for a memorable afternoon.

Miss Ida Berger Gives Family Credit For Life—To Celebrate 93rd Year

A very fine lady who will be 93 years old tomorrow attributes her good health and happiness at 93 to her nephew's wife, Mrs. Rollin Berger, Miss Ida Berger, a retired school teacher, is very obviously enjoying her life with her nephew and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Berger and sons Freddie, 12, Jimmy, 14, and Rollin, 20, of Buck Hill Falls.

Miss Berger, without even the slightest hesitation, says she is healthy and happy because Mrs. Berger sees she gets all the hot food and good care necessary. "Good, hot food is the most necessary requirement for the physical body," said Miss Berger in a conversation yesterday.

She was born on August 23, 1866, the daughter of a former Prussian soldier and his wife, the late August and Caroline Fritz Berger. As she says, "I was born just one year after the Civil War and I missed all that trouble."

She is the last one living of her three brothers and three sisters. Miss Berger was graduated from Hunter College in New York and began teaching geography and music in a New York Junior High School.

After teaching them for 43 years, Miss Berger is partial to boys. She displays this interest in them when she is talking with her grand-nephews. The three boys tease her as though she were a young sister and she teases back with the best of them.

During her teaching years, her superintendent gave her a good mark for her teaching methods and handling of the different types of children. She says she would not like to go back to New York, however, because it is too full of people.

Kitchen Tour Tickets Available; BPW Announces Slight Change In Homes

The Stroudsburg Business and Professional Women have announced that tickets are still available for the Kitchen Tour to be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 25 and 26.

Tickets are available from club members or may be purchased in Wyckoff's Gift Wrapping Department or secured from Margaret Carlton, in the office of Walter Dreher, 551 Main St., Stroudsburg.

There is also a special booth set up at Wyckoff's today so interested individuals may buy their tickets and plan to tour the 21 kitchens on display.

Betty Noack, chairman of the tour, has announced that due to illness, three of the homes listed for visitation had to be withdrawn. These are Mrs. William Kopenhaver, 214 Collins St., Stroudsburg; Mrs. Thomas Long, Birch Acres and Mrs. H. B. George, White Heron Lake.

All houses in the tour will be plainly marked with a large sign.

There will be an Electronic Range demonstration at the Pennsylvania Power and Light office and refreshments will be served.

Those visiting the kitchens are reminded to tear off the voting coupon on the back page of the tour ticket and deposit in either Wyckoff's Electric Shop box, or the one which will be at the PP&L Co. Building.

Mr. Wyckoff is playing host to the entrants in the Kitchen Tour, and by bus they will have a "pre-tour" the day before the public tour. The pre-tour group will leave from the back of Wyckoff's, Monday at 10.

Proceeds from this tour go to the fund for Laurel Manor.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Umphrey of Stroudsburg and maternal grandparents are Daniel L. and Catherine Avery of 56 Borough St., East Stroudsburg.

The Williamsons' first two children are Merritt R. Williamson Jr., age five, and Audrey Jane Williamson, age 15 months.

The mother is the former Betty Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Snyder of Bath, RD 2. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williamson RD 1, Bath.

In announcing the birth of Timothy Jay Mansfield in Tuesday's paper, two names were mentioned incorrectly. Timothy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie and Emma Pleyer Mansfield and not Robert. The paternal parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mansfield and not Robert as the paper stated.

Whenever I think of property taxes . . . painting a house . . . or buying fuel, I'm delighted to be a renter rather than a home owner. I can even imagine that many owners envy the renters just about now, when they begin to face the reality of crisp Fall weather and icy winter winds.

I'll tell you this, however . . . many landlords and home owners would have far less to pay in fuel bills if they would give more attention to the condition of the heating system. An improperly installed heating system . . . a dirty one . . . one not set correctly or one that is outworn and dilapidated . . . can be an insidious thief of not only your comfort and peace of mind, but of the actual fuel dollars allotted by your budget. These final hot days of Summer are the proper time to be thinking of conditioning—or replacing—the heating system of your home. Naturally, Wyckoff's master plumber, Lester Lee, is hoping you will consult with him about your problems.

And here's another thought: HOW DO YOUR WINDOWS FIT? If they do not, and the wind howls through them . . . if the cords need replacement . . . or if storm windows are badly needed, talk with our Sears store to see what can be done. It's expensive enough to heat the indoors—why try to heat the great outdoors? Your thrifter neighbors won't!

DISTRICT Fish Commissioner James F. Hazen reported yesterday that stocking of Brady's Pond near Blakeslee took place Thursday.

Good catchings were reported in the Pond prior to this stocking, Hazen reported.

Public AUCTION SALE

of 3,000 Orchid plants—Complete stock of Kohl's Orchid Nursery, at his greenhouses, 1/2 mi. from the Stroud Shopping Center, Stroudsburg, Pa., Route 611, the pink barn on the Chipperfield Drive

Sat., Aug. 22, 1959

Starting at 11 A.M.

Started as a hobby and study of orchid plants. Mr. Kohl has assembled a most interesting collection of flower bearing plants of various varieties and colors acquired from reputable breeders, both local and abroad.

Other pressing business interests prevents him from devoting the time needed for this hobby, which prompted him to offer these rare plants to the public. During his study and interest in orchids, he has placed orchids as gifts into many homes in this community on a non-profit basis.

He now wishes to extend an opportunity to those who have an interest in orchids to purchase plants in small quantities and thus increase interest in orchid growing in the home, as he strongly feels this is not as difficult a task as many have previously believed.

Lots of 5 plants and multiples of the same will be sold. A complete listing of plants will be mailed on request by contacting Wayne R. Posten, Aut. Box 23, E. Stroudsburg, Pa. 1-7320. Mark your calendar now for Saturday, Aug. 22. The day of opportunity for those who once in a lifetime can buy and bid at a public auction sale that is unique in the annals of public sales.

Building Union Seeks State Mediation In Strike At College

Differences Caused By Firing

GEORGE WILSON, business agent for the Building Trades Council announced yesterday that his union has asked that the State's Department of Labor and Industry mediate the differences between his union and Boyd Kline, Bloomsburg contractor.

The differences have arisen over the alleged illegal firing of the Ironworkers Job Steward Robert Clarkson on the job at the new Science Building and the Women's Dormitory at the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

The department, Wilson said, has agreed to negotiate the matter, and is in the process of contacting Kline to set up such a meeting.

Wilson also said that he, Robert Meyer, business agent for the Ironworkers, and Samuel Sackman, the mediator assigned by the department to the matter, are ready at any time to sit down with Kline and talk over the differences.

Work has been stopped for the fourth time on the Kline jobs at the college since Tuesday when the Ironworkers placed their pickets on the site. Other workers, respecting the picket lines, did not go to work that day.

Pickets Withdrawn
The pickets were withdrawn by the union at noon that day and have not returned to the job.

Kline, however, has refused thus far to negotiate with the union since he claims during previous negotiations about three weeks ago, mediated by A. J. Caruso, head of the General State Authority, members of the Building Trades Council had promised not to picket without informing the GSA and his firm prior to such picketing.

Wilson said since the action by the Ironworkers was unilateral, the agreement was not binding upon the present case.

Neither Kline or Caruso were available last night for comment on the situation at present with their respective sides of the case.

Statement Refuted

Morrison Cameron, refuting a statement by Kline which said no Ironworkers had been fired from the job in the past two weeks, reported to the Daily Record, he had been fired from the job by Harold Fisk, Kline superintendent on the job, on Aug. 7.

Cameron's statement on the issue is as follows:

"I was fired on Aug. 7 by superintendent of the Boyd Kline Contracting Co., Harold Fisk, despite a statement by Kline that there were no Ironworkers fired the past two weeks. There were three fired the past two weeks."

Ninth Annual Outdoor Art Show Open In Stroudsburg

THE NINTH ANNUAL Outdoor Art Show, sponsored by the Pocono Mountain Art Group, began its second exhibition of the Summer yesterday.

Fifty artists registered for the first day coming from Easton, Allentown, Mount Bethel, Scranton, New York, Newark and the Stroudsburg area.

Olivia Dreher, chairman of the show, stated that "one can see a decided improvement in the technique of the local artists." This is due to an increasing amount of art and technique study this Summer, she said.

More Paintings
While there are fewer artists exhibiting as compared to last month's number, there are more paintings on display. Paintings are lined along the East and West side of Seventh St., up to Sarah St., and on the North side of Monroe St.

Several local artists are showing after an absence from the October Show of several years. They include Francis Meredith, Stroudsburg; Josephine Low, Stroudsburg; Violet Price, Buck Hill Falls and Eleanor Houser, Shawnee.

Miss Dreher reported that more pictures have been sold this month as compared to last month and more persons attending the exhibitions.

100 Feet Pinch Of Steel Strike

HARRISBURG — Secretary of Labor and Industry William L. Batt Sr., has been making regular reports to Gov. David L. Lawrence on the effects of the steel strike on the state's employment.

In the Stroudsburg area, the report shows that a total of 100 persons have been affected by the strike since its beginning July 14.

Break Down
Broken down the figures show there are ten railroad workers directly affected, while 90 other workers have also been directly affected.

According to the report, Monroe County is part of District 10, comprising Pike, Monroe, Carbon, Schuylkill and Luzerne counties.

Monroe County Jail Listed As Outdated By State Unit

THE PENNSYLVANIA Bureau of Corrections yesterday labeled Monroe County Jail outdated and inadequate.

Robert A. Itri, director of inspection and services for the bureau, and Albert S. Phillips, the bureau's director of engineering, made the appraisal in a conference with Monroe County officials over needs for expanding and improving jail facilities.

Itri and Phillips met with John R. Lesoine, chairman of the County Commissioners, and Sheriff Jacob F. Altomose, in the sheriff's office at the jail.

Phillips said the County Commissioners and the sheriff will be asked to determine future prison needs in Monroe. Yesterday's discussion, he said, was a preliminary investigation of alternatives—building a new jail or remodeling the present structure.

Four School Directors Appointed

GOULDSBORO — Four new Lehigh Township school directors were appointed yesterday by Wayne County Judge Clarence E. Bodie.

They replace four board members who resigned Monday after the Southern Wayne Joint School Board, including Lehigh, Green, Dreher and Sterling, voted unanimously to discontinue the jointure.

Names
New directors are Russell G. Barnes, Republican, to fill the unexpired term of Dr. M. M. Williams; Daniel Cuccarini, Democrat, who replaces Wilmer Flower; Madeleine Rhodes, Republican, replacing V. R. Crooks; and Kenneth Moore, Democrat, in place of Russell O'Boyle.

Judge Bodie acted after receiving a petition with more than 100 signatures, urging that the positions be filled immediately.

The only remaining Lehigh board member is Steven Carr. The board dissolved Monday because of what it called "unfair attacks and organized opposition" on the part of the Citizens' Committee of Gouldsboro.

The board took the stand that the opposition would interfere seriously with the education of the children in the township.
